A high schooler suspects that a tragic roller coaster crash wasn't an accident

If it weren't for the Boardwalk, the small town of Santa Luisa might disappear altogether. The amusement park employs half the town's workers, pulls in tourists, and gives teenagers like Tess Landers someplace to hang out on the weekends. Tess is eating a hot dog when the Boardwalk's roller coaster—the Devil's Elbow—jumps the track, hangs for a moment in the air, and then plummets to the ground. One of Tess's classmates is dead on impact, two are forever maimed, and over twenty others are taken to the hospital. It's the worst tragedy Santa Luisa has ever seen, but it's only the beginning.

As people rush to help, Tess spies a black-suited figure running away from the crowd. The crash was no accident. Five more teens will suffer before the killer is through, and Tess may be about to put herself on the list of victims.

This ebook features an illustrated biography of Diane Hoh including rare photos and never-before-seen documents from the author's personal collection.

Editorial Review

About the Author

Diane Hoh (b. 1937) is a bestselling author of young adult fiction. Born in Warren, Pennsylvania, Hoh began her first novel, Loving That O'Connor Boy (1985), after seeing an ad in a publishing trade magazine requesting submissions for a line of young adult fiction.

After contributing novels to two popular series, Cheerleaders and the Girls of Canby Hall, Hoh found great success writing thrillers, beginning with Funhouse (1990), a Point Horror novel that became a national bestseller. Following its success, Hoh created the Nightmare Hall series, whose twenty-nine installments chronicle a university plagued by dark secrets, and the seven-volume Med Center series, about the challenges and mysteries in a Massachusetts hospital. In 1998, Hoh had a runaway hit with Titanic: The Long Night and Remembering the Titanic, a pair of novels about two couples' escape from the doomed ocean liner. She now lives and writes in Austin.
